Leadership and Spirituality By Rick Goings We are all on a journey, and we learn from other travelers. Men who in their schooldays once attempted the helpless vice, whose betrayed intimates are the poor hard hands of boys, find themselves making another attempt; or an illness they had overcome as a child starts up in them once more; or a habit they thought had faded away, a certain turn of the head that was a peculiarity of theirs years before, now returns.

The Moon Catcher

When I was young and would overhear rare conversations that my father and his friends had about their own young lives in the inter-war period, I would often long for these years thinking how great it must have been to be growing up then, between andwhen three powerful ideologies, liberalism, communism with its many mutually internecine shades and fascism, clashed mercilessly across Europe and the world.
